

Section A — Identity & Company Basics

1. Identify the individual in the image.

Include:

- Full name
- Nationality
- Current or former role in the company

2. Identify the company connected to this person.

Include:

- Company name
- Main business activity
- Year founded

3. Find where the company is officially registered.

Include:

- Country/jurisdiction
 - Any claimed headquarters location
-

Section B — Company Structure & Operations

4. List at least three countries where the company operates or has offices/subsidiaries.

5. Identify the founder(s) or major owners of the company.

Provide evidence using:

- Official website
- News reports

- Company filings
-

6. Has the company changed its structure, headquarters, or ownership in recent years?

Briefly explain what changed.

Section C — Legal & Regulatory Investigation

7. Has the company ever been investigated, fined, or warned by any government regulator?

Include:

- Authority name
 - Year
 - Reason
-

8. Have any executives faced legal allegations, lawsuits, or criminal investigations?

Provide a short summary with sources.

9. Check whether the company appears in any sanctions, watchlists, or compliance-related reports.

Mention the database/source used.

Section D — Financial & Risk Analysis

10. Identify one country or region where the company faced regulatory or compliance risks.

11. Were there any allegations related to:

- Money laundering
- Weak compliance
- Terror financing controls
- Fraud prevention failures

Give a short explanation.

12. Find one major controversy involving the company.

Explain:

- What happened
 - Why it became controversial
 - Public or government response
-

Section E — Analytical Assessment

13. In your opinion, why do some multinational companies avoid having a fixed headquarters?

(Write 150–200 words)

14. What lessons can investigators learn from this case regarding:

- Corporate transparency
- Financial regulation
- Digital investigations

(Write 150–200 words)

Submission Requirements

Students must provide:

- Proper source links
- Screenshots where relevant
- Timeline of major events
- Minimum 5 reliable sources